

Dope Sports

$DOPE Token | Executive Summary

This document is a factual summary of the Dope Sports platform and $DOPE token mechanics. It does not constitute financial advice, an offer of securities, or a solicitation of any kind. A full technical document is available on request.

$DOPE was launched before the Dope Sports platform existed. The token reached a $1.2M market cap on community interest alone, with no product behind it. The platform has since been built, demonstrated, and is approaching public launch. Every claim in this summary is verifiable on-chain or demonstrable through the platform itself.

The Platform	The Token Structure	The Mechanics
Dope Sports is a curated two-sided subscription marketplace connecting action sports athletes with brands. The market: $13.5B in 2023, projected $26.8B by 2034. Athletes subscribe for a professional brand-facing profile. Brands subscribe across four tiers to discover and engage athletes. Both sides pay. Both sides have incentives to remain active as the marketplace grows. The MVP is fully built. A working demonstration of the complete brand and athlete workflow is available at t.me/DopeSportsOfficial .	420,000,000 tokens were originally minted. 116,000,000 are permanently gone before the platform has generated a single dollar of subscription revenue. 64M removed to dead wallet. 52M permanently locked into the LP, deepening protocol liquidity with no withdrawal mechanism of any kind. No team token allocation. No insider vesting. No operational sell pressure. 304,000,000 remain in circulation. That figure decreases automatically on every transaction.	Every transaction carries a 5% tax. On buys: 3% to the protocol operations wallet in ETH, 2% permanently locked into LP. On sells: 3% locked into LP, 2% to operations. Sells lock more into LP than buys by design. The operations wallet receives ETH, not tokens. The team funds platform development without selling into the market. A defined portion of platform subscription revenue is allocated each cycle to on-chain infrastructure, deepening treasury reserves and protocol-owned liquidity independently of market conditions.
